

MONOLOGUE – MONSTER

FROM JEALOUSY JANE

by Lindsay Price

Use this monologue for your next IE!

Play	JEALOUSY JANE by Lindsay Price
Stats	Comedy - Simple set - 45 minutes
Casting	2M+2W+1 Either
Description	At the beginning of the play, Jane finds herself attached to a “Jealousy Monster.” At first the monster is unable to stand upright and can only speak in grunts and snorts. The more Jane denies her jealousy, the more human the monster becomes.  At this moment the monster is at the height of his power. He speaks for the first time and is ready to take over Jane’s life completely.
Get the Play	www.theatrefolk.com

The MONSTER breathes in with a satisfied smile.

I adore the classics.

What about the mall? You don't like the mall, do you Jane? All those girls with their better looks and their better bodies. They've all got money to burn too, don't they? They don't ever look at the price tags like you have to. They've got their own cars and you don't. They wear clothes that you could never fit into. They buy CDs by the dozen. Haven't you always wanted to be a musician? You know that will never happen to someone like you, dear. My goodness, it feels good to hate them so much.

I'm hungry, Jane. Let's go get something to eat. You're not in charge anymore, sister. I'm just getting started. The play is mine. 🐉

Continued Over...

PO Box 1064
Crystal Beach, ON, L0S 1B0, Canada
1-866-245-9138
www.theatrefolk.com

The Fine Print

Copyright © Lindsay Price, All Rights Reserved

You may freely copy and share this document, as long as the document is distributed in its entirety, including this notice. Please forward corrections and/or comments to the author.

Performances for an audience (whether paying or not) are subject to a royalty. Contact us for details. The text may be performed without royalty for auditions, in-class work, and Thespian IEs.

Get more free stuff at: theatrefolk.com/free